

MORNING APPEAL.

Saturday, January 8 1897.

EQUALIZE THE OFFICES.

At the beginning of each session of the Legislature a scramble for clerkships is witnessed which is a sort of rough and tumble, go-as-you-please race in which all sorts of queer people secure places. One county gets twice what it is entitled to and some counties get nothing. Some men desirous of places come in from the Eastern part of the State under the assurance that their party service will secure them a place and have the satisfaction of seeing some person who never did anything for the party get the place while they have to borrow money to pay their fare back.

Again, some members whose counties get nothing feel aggrieved and retaliate on the counties who got more than they were entitled to.

Many of the people who secure the places are utterly unfit and the work is badly sloughed. Some men elected with the positions are drunk half the time and so it goes.

All this is the result of the members meeting total strangers and accepting the guarantee of every Tom, Dick and Harry that they are capable. This matter could all be satisfactorily adjusted by allowing each county a representation in the attaches offices according to the number of Republican votes cast in the county. The Central Committee of the county can then send the number of persons allotted under this apportionment backed by credentials and recommendations from the committee, and have it understood that no person will be nominated who does not come to Carson with the proper credentials. Good, competent men and good party workers would be rewarded and the offices would be scattered about through the State so that each county would have its fair share. Much hard feeling and trouble would be avoided and no man would slip in who was not of the true stripe.

The Inter-State Commerce Resolution.

Following is the Senate Concurrent Resolution to the Congress of the United States in relation to the discrimination in fares and freights by inter-State railroad companies which passed the Senate Thursday:

Whereas, The people of the State of Nevada have long suffered, and do now suffer under impositions and exactions of the Central Pacific Railway Company by its unjust discriminations in fares and freights, which, besides retarding enterprise, injures the business and prosperity of the people of this State, and amounts to the most enormous, unjust and oppressive burden ever imposed upon the industries of a people, and

Whereas, Such pernicious practices by and on the part of said railroad company should be no longer tolerated. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate, the Assembly concurring, that the passage of the bill now before Congress entitled "A bill to regulate interstate commerce and prevent unjust discriminations by common carriers" will be hailed with joy by the people of this State.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representative in Congress be, and they are hereby, instructed to vote for and use all means within their power to secure the early passage of the aforesaid bill.

Nevada Soda.

There is soda enough lying around loose in the section of this State lying tributary to the Carson and Colorado Railroad, and within easy reach of it to supply the world. The Dayton News-Reporter says.

There are two places in this State where it may be taken out in solid blocks, as ice is out of a pond, and some of it is almost as transparent as ice. The finding of this solid soda by the immigrants who crossed the plains in 1850 and 1852 gave rise to the widely circulated story that under the sands of some of our deserts were solid masses of ice of unknown thickness and extent. The pilgrims gathered the dry efflorescent soda that was found about the shores of ponds and used it in making bread, but the solid article as found by them in places under the dry sand, where they were digging in search of water, they did not understand. They believed it to be frozen alkali water.

A Joke on Vrooman.

The Stockton Mail says a lawyer of that city relates this anecdote of Senator Vrooman:

Smart? Don't mention it! Why, when he wanted to establish a credit in Oakland during his school days, he borrowed a hundred dollars and put it in a bank. Then he used to check it out in small sums; put it in again, and check it out. He worked that hundred dollars for all it was worth.
